

Preparing Service Leavers for their next challenge

Every year over 14,000 individuals leave the armed forces and ManpowerGroup is there to prepare them for civilian life. Our Career Transition Partnership with the Ministry of Defence provides all service leavers with resettlement support - identifying their transferable skills, developing tactics for approaching the job market, providing training to help them establish new careers and connecting them with employers who would benefit from their experience. To date, we've assisted over 180,000 Service leavers and supported thousands of organisations looking to employ ex-Service personnel.
