MILWAUKEE (17 Sept 2017) (NYSE: MAN) – ManpowerGroup today kicks off global Sustainability Week across 80 countries celebrating the first anniversary of its Sustainability Plan. The plan supports four of the UN Sustainable Development Goals - 4, 5, 8 and 10 - contributing to making progress in education, decent work, gender equality and inclusive growth. ManpowerGroup's new Work to Change the World sustainability website showcases what companies and individuals can do to get ready for work, upskill to remain employable and create inclusive workplaces.

“As global leaders come together in New York to discuss the Sustainable Development Goals: and how to transform our world, now is the time to reflect and to act upon the transformative impact skills, work and jobs have on individuals, families and communities.” Said Jonas Prising, ManpowerGroup Chairman & CEO. “This work is a marathon not a sprint. Enabling all people to develop the skills they need for meaningful and sustainable employment is core to our business and critical to achieving the Sustainable Development Goals. I’m proud of the commitment and dedication of all our teams around the world to help deliver against these ambitious targets every day.”

ManpowerGroup’s programmes are guided by a clear purpose built on a 70 year heritage - that meaningful and sustainable work has the power to change the world.
